

The main aim of the Erasmus+ co-funded INFURI project is to spread innovative and sustainable circular business models in the furniture industry with the focus on SMEs and to equip furniture employees with relevant skills related to circularity, while promoting synergies and cooperation among businesses, universities, research centres and other relevant stakeholders operating in the furniture sector.

The specific objectives of the project are:

- to equip furniture employees with relevant skills related to circularity
- to spread innovative and sustainable circular business models in the furniture industry contributing to enhance its competitiveness
- to increase SMEs ability to analyse their business under a “circular” point of view;
- to spread circular procurement principles with benefits in term of corporate social responsibility.
